

Performance-Based, Money-Back Guarantee

Can you imagine how exciting this is?! After thousands upon thousands of hours of research and scripting, and after field-testing this program since 1988 with nearly six hundred parent/teachers participating, Line & Precept Education Foundation® is offering you a complete (nothing else to buy) English language arts scripted study guide that enables you to teach using the same explicit method of instruction our forefathers used and promises you the same proficiency results they experienced!

The curriculum is called English for Life®—The Madsen Method®. It is described in the Introduction in Part One of the curriculum, in our brochure, and on our website: www.madsenmethod.com

It cannot be compared to any present day curriculum. No other publisher has done the research or field-testing required to produce an authentic model of early American language arts instruction, one that duplicates how instruction was given then; one that promises you the same results (before public education invented curricula that were arbitrarily and artificially divided out in graded segments; before compulsory education demanded curricula be plentifully supplied to accommodate its orders that students remain housed in classrooms for economically advantageous periods of time; before the first two factors resulted in a third factor: curricula via workbooks and worksheets unavoidably resulted in a change in the method of instruction—a change from full-spectrum neurological response instruction to fragmented neurological response instruction).

Purchasers of our curriculum are offered a performance-based, money-back guarantee. Performance-based means:

1. The purchaser / teacher understands and is committed to full-spectrum neurological response instruction (NRI); we guarantee our curriculum facilitates this way of teaching. ***
2. Upon giving and receiving instruction via this curriculum, we guarantee both the teacher and student will become proficient in all English language arts skills and concepts. ***
3. The purchaser / teacher will receive FREE, unlimited, on-demand, ongoing live support via our 800 number and e-mail address.

Since we give these three unprecedented performance-based guarantees, we do not accept returns for reasons other than failure of those given. Therefore, all returns must be authorized. The purchaser / teacher must provide “proof of failure of our written guarantee” prior to receiving a return authorization.

We request this Notice of Guarantee be signed and submitted to Line & Precept Education Foundation upon purchase of the curriculum. A signed copy must be in Line & Precept’s possession in order for the purchaser / teacher to be eligible for a return authorization. This Notice of Guarantee covers all four Parts of the curriculum.

* These guarantees are explicitly described in the Introduction in Part One.

“I have read this guarantee and accept its terms.”
